DEKALB LOAN GROUP CONDUCTING SURVEY

Effort to Learn Needs of Home-Owners A'm
of Move.

A survey of home mortgages in DeKalb county to determine the extent of the need for federal home loan bank funds is being conducted by the Decatur Building and Loan Association. It was announced Thursday by Julius A. McCurdy, executive director.

Roy M. Abernathy, Decatur city manager; Leon O'Neal and A. L. Bland, directors of the association, are other members of the committee making the survey.

The survey, when completed, will be presented to the full board of the association to guide its decision as to whether to join the federal home loan banking system. Mr. McCurdy stated. The new federal bank will redempt home mortgages for building and loan and other home savings associations in a manner similar to the federal reserve bank's discounting of commercial paper.

"We expect to find out in this survey the total number and amount of good home loans which will become due during the remainder of this year and which the present mortgageholders will not be able to refinance," Mr. McCurdy stated.

The results of the Decatur survey will also be reported to members of the Georgia Building and Loan League, of which Mr. McCurdy is vice president, as a guide for the other 35 counties where building and loan associations are functioning.

Controversy in National Capital May Cause U. S. Court To Suspend

Because of a controversy between the comptroller general of the United States, J. R. McCall, one side, and Attorney General William D. Mitchell and Marshal Louis H. Crawford on the other, the federal district court of North Georgia may be forced to suspend activities, it was learned Thursday.

The comptroller-general, long known as the watchdog of the treasury, has ordered Marshal Crawford's credit stopped because he had requisitioned for funds to make payments the comptroller-general held were illegal. The business for which the funds were being requisitioned had been authorized by Attorney General Mitchell.

Meanwhile Marshal Crawford, the paymaster of the court, is without funds to pay his own salary, the salaries of his deputies, the district attorney, district judge, judge of the circuit court of appeals, clerk of the court, petit jurors and grand jurors and unless the comptroller-general rescinds his order the court will have to suspend, it was said at the federal building Thursday.

The comptroller-general and the secretary of the treasury are the only officials authorized, with the exception of the president, to tie up Marshal Crawford's appropriations. In Washington Thursday it was said that Mr. McCall had refused to permit funds to be disbursed to Mr. Crawford until he had made "certain satisfactory explanations" of funds previously disbursed.

Mr. Crawford said Thursday night that his office was in arrears and that there was no unaccounted for sums. He wrote and signed the following statement:

"I wish to state that there are no irregularities in my office whatsoever and that my accounts are not out of balance one penny.

"Comptroller-General McCall has refused to approve requisition for the usual funds required by my office, solely because he holds the salary paid to W. F. Haney for services rendered as court bailiff to be illegal. He bases his ruling on a section of an act of congress of 1896 which says in part that no deputy marshal shall receive pay as a bailiff.

"Haney was appointed to serve as a special deputy marshal without pay while a bailiff. This was done by my predecessor in office, by approval of the attorney-general and was approved by the two succeeding attorney-generals. This section of the act was interpreted to mean that a man could not receive two salaries at the same time, and Haney was not paid but the one salary as bailiff, which was less than that of deputy marshal. The salary paid Haney was at all times approved by the department of justice. Haney is not now connected with my office.

"The demand is now made upon me to refund the salary paid Haney, as court bailiff, otherwise it is threatened that my regular monthly requisition for funds for September I have therefore been held up pending an adjustment of this purely technical matter. Without these funds some of the salaries for August could not be paid."

TREATY VIOLATION DENIED BY TOKYO

Japan Reiterates Proposal to Keep Open Door in Manchukuo.

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Japanese government denied today that its recognition treaty and defense alliance with the state of Manchukuo, set up in Manchuria by Japanese military leaders, was "derogatory of any treaty to which Japan is party." (The Chinese nationalist government has contended that Japanese activities in Manchuria violated the League of Nations covenant, the Brund-Kellogg pact and the nine-power treaty, to all of which Japan is a party. The United States is a signatory of the Brund-Kellogg pact and the nine-power treaty. China demanded "international action" in connection with the Japan-Manchukuo treaty in notes sent world powers today.)

The Japanese denial, issued shortly after the signing of the treaty at Changchun, said Japan desired to open the interior of Manchukuo to all foreigners alike. It recalled the Manchukuo government's pledge to observe the principles of the open door.

The nationalist newspaper Kokumin said editorially the signing of the treaty marked "the turning point in the world balance of power," and made Japan and Manchukuo "the center of the world." It added it was Japan's "heaven-sent mission" to protect and develop Manchukuo.

No action was taken by the Japanese foreign office to notify other powers of the consummation of the treaty nor to communicate to them its text.

MORE ADDRESSES URGED OF HOOVER

Leaders Ask President to Take More Active Part in Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—President Hoover was urged today to take a more active personal part in the republican campaign, going beyond the three addresses republican leaders have reported he would make.

One prominent political leader said, after a conference at the White House today, he felt Mr. Hoover might enlarge his program to make as many as five or six addresses. He stressed, however, that no final decision had been reached.

One of the callers at the executive mansion today, C. Bascom Sloop, former secretary to President Coolidge, said he had discussed political matters with the chief executive, but that no definite decisions had grown out of their conference.

Sloop, former republican national committeeman from Virginia, said he expressed the idea that in his own state the republican organization lacked the power and coordination it possessed in 1928, when Mr. Hoover carried the state.

HURLEY LAUDS HOOVER IN DAKOTA ADDRESS

HURON, S. D., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Secretary Hurley today said President Hoover is "successfully piloting this nation through one of the greatest economic storms in history" and credited him with saving "millions of dollars" for American agriculture.

In an address prepared for delivery before the South Dakota state fair, the secretary of war declared that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic presidential candidate, "has no plan to break the depression or to put men and women back to work."

The war secretary lauded administration steps that he said had kept the United States "first solvent and confident of the future." He also told this northwest farming section the democratic house passed "bills that would have more than doubled the cost of the federal government if they had not been stopped by the senate and the president."

Secretary Hurley dealt at some length with the agricultural market, in which the farm board was set up, inland waterways development and the president's efforts to aid banks as they affect the farming sections.

PLANNING NO CONTEST, ETHERIDGE DECLARES

Judgeship Candidate Accepts Count; Congratulates Howard.

Referring to a published report that he would contest the nomination of Judge G. H. Howard, Paul S. Etheridge said Thursday: "A radio report came out that there was only 38 votes between Judge Howard and myself, and knowing that there were very large votes cast in certain precincts, and that the votes were counted in the late hours of the night, Mr. Peck, my law associate, felt that there might be room for error, and, in order to comply with a rule of the committee that requests for a recount must be made before consolidation, he made the request that certain large precincts be recounted on condition that the consolidated result showed a slight margin in favor of Judge Howard, and

Federal Jurors Heed Mother's Plea for Son

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A federal grand jury listened to the plea of a widowed mother here yesterday, wrote "no bill" across a counterfeiting charge against her son and then took up a collection to send mother and son back to their home in England, Ark. Mrs. Mattie Crabtree, 40, hitchhiked from her home to plead for her son, Frank Crabtree, 17. Twice during her four-day trip she stopped at farm houses to treat a wound left by a recent operation. Two weeks she waited here to present her plea before the grand jury assembled to investigate the case.

"A radio report came out that there was only 38 votes between Judge Howard and myself, and knowing that there were very large votes cast in certain precincts, and that the votes were counted in the late hours of the night, Mr. Peck, my law associate, felt that there might be room for error, and, in order to comply with a rule of the committee that requests for a recount must be made before consolidation, he made the request that certain large precincts be recounted on condition that the consolidated result showed a slight margin in favor of Judge Howard, and

RUSSELL THANKS VOTERS OF STATE

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., elected to the United States senate over Congressman Charles R. Crisp in Wednesday's primary, Thursday thanked his friends for the support which gave him "a magnificent victory."

In a statement, the governor said: "From the bottom of a grateful heart I wish to thank my good friends all over Georgia for the loyal support which resulted in our magnificent victory. I have been blessed with many good friends whose confidence in me and the principles I represented led them, without hope of reward, to fight for our cause at every precinct until the closing of the polls. I wish that I could shake hands with every one of them and personally thank each for their efforts in behalf of our cause."

"It is my sincere and burning hope that the character of my services will be such as to deserve such confidence. We are facing a crisis in our national life and I am fully aware of the great responsibility devolving upon me in assuming the duties of a member of the United States senate."

"I hope to be able to play a humble part in the great work of rehabilitating our nation, of providing a job for every man who is willing to support himself and family by honest toil and substituting happiness and contentment for the despair and distress which hovers over so many American homes, and in ending the era of misrule which has prevailed in our national government in recent years."

"Now that our democratic primaries are over, it is the duty of all good democrats to forget past differences and stand shoulder to shoulder to give our great nominees for the presidency, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the entire ticket, the greatest majority ever recorded in Georgia."

"As I have not words to express the feeling in my heart towards those who fought and worked for me so valiantly, I hope that all of my friends will sense the deep appreciation I feel for the part they played in one of the most unusual and greatest victories over great odds ever won at the polls."

Ala. Solons To Act On Sales Tax Bill
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 15.—(AP)—The house ways and means committee of the Alabama legislature today voted to report without recommendation a sales tax modeled after the Mississippi law, as a means of balancing the budget.

The measure provides for a tax of 2 per cent on all retail sales, except farm products in the hands of producers being exempt, 1-8 of 1 per cent on wholesalers and jobbers and 1-10 of 1 per cent on manufacturers, with a 2-1-2 per cent levy on gross receipts of gas companies.

The Fletcher omnibus bill, sponsored by the administration, was given a favorable report by the senate committee on finance and taxation and goes on the calendar tomorrow.

The bill provides for creation of a comptroller, repeals all existing appropriations, carries provisions for protecting appropriations to meet revenue and prohibits issuance of warrants when money is not available to pay them.

VOROSHILOV REPORTED ATTENDING TO DUTIES
MOSCOW, Sept. 15.—(AP)—News-papers today made public Leningrad dispatches saying Klementi Voroshilov, commissar for war, reviewed the Baltic fleet Tuesday. No mention was made of reports published abroad that Commissar Voroshilov had succeeded Joseph Stalin as communist party chief.

An official statement issued in Moscow yesterday described reports of the downfall of Joseph Stalin as "non-sensical."

The extension was the third granted and will give the delinquents until October 17 to pay up last year's accounts. "I cannot get the consent of my conscience to sell out from under 6,000 of my constituents," Hamilton said in announcing the moratorium, "but this is positively the last extension."

No Sir, you don't find me forgetting Heinz Rice Flakes

HEINZ RICE FLAKES
DELICIOUS!...SO CRISP, SO CRUNCHY
AND KEEPS YOU REGULAR!

Try this...

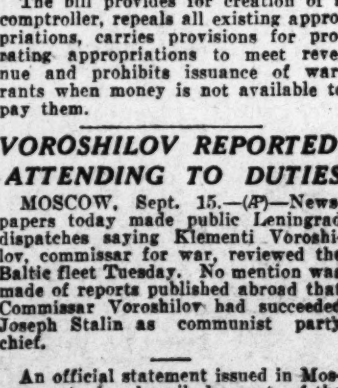

You can use Snowdrift over and over again for deep frying. Try it! Put plenty of Snowdrift in a deep pan. Fry fish, or onions, or croquettes, and when they are crisp and golden brown, tender and juicy inside, take them out and pour the Snowdrift through a clean cloth into a crock or pail. Then fry something else—potatoes, for instance, in the same Snowdrift. They will be delicious. Please do not misunderstand this. We are not suggesting that you try to re-use shortenings that burn or smoke at frying temperatures. Nor are we trying to claim too much for Snowdrift. It's simply this: Snowdrift is so pure it doesn't burn or smoke at correct frying temperatures—and that means wholesome, delicious fried foods.

Your grocer's prices on Snowdrift, in either the new carton or the familiar airtight pail, will be a pleasant surprise to you. Ask him about them.

As much thought should be given to planning the contents of a lunch basket as to the planning of a lunch meal. It is usually helpful to jot down a list of what is to go in, and have it handy, to make sure that nothing is left out. This should be done the night before. And there are other things that can be made a day or two in advance, and kept cold in a covered jar, ready for use. For instance:

1. Cream cheese mixed with chopped olives and thinned with cream.
2. Cream cheese mixed with chopped nuts and thinned with cream.
3. Hard-boiled egg, mixed with chopped ham or tuna fish, and mayonnaise.

4. Baked beans, mashed and mixed with chili sauce.
5. Hard-boiled eggs may be stuffed the day before. In fact, two days' supply may be made at once, each egg wrapped in heavy, creased paper, and kept in the ice-box until needed. And some sandwiches are just as well made the day before. A good recipe follows:

Ribbon Sandwich.
Take two slices each of white bread and whole wheat, trim to uniform size, removing crust. Prepare two sandwich spreads, one of pimento cheese and mayonnaise and one of cream cheese mixed with chopped nuts and a little cream. Take one piece of white bread, spread thinly with butter, and then with the cream cheese and nuts. Place a slice of whole wheat bread on top. Spread with the pimento mixture. Put on the other slice of white bread, more butter and the cheese-nut mixture, and place the last piece of whole wheat bread on top. Wrap tightly in a damp cloth and place in the refrigerator. Remove next morning and slice. This will make 5 or 6 ribbon sandwiches.

Baked custards are particularly good for school lunches. They are a welcome change from fruit desserts, are most nourishing, and can be made the day before. If they are to be carried, bake them in short jelly glasses, and cover tightly.

Carrot Sandwiches.
Carrot sandwiches are made by cutting thin slices of raw carrot between 2 slices of bread, one buttered and the other spread with mayonnaise. Children love them.

Baked Custard.
One cup scalded milk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons sugar, nutmeg.
Add sugar to slightly beaten egg. Pour on scalded milk. Stir until sugar dissolves. Pour into four little cups, and sprinkle top with nutmeg. Set cups in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven, until firm—about 30 minutes. The water around the custards will separate, and whey.

Oh yes, but "we have no bananas," you say?

Then get some, they're useful in many a way.

You slice them and fry them and bake them in cake.

You'll serve them quite often, and make no mistake.

Years ago, bananas were absolutely taboo for little children. I remember how hard I had to beg as a little child to get the coveted banana. And then mother watched closely for the rest of the day, fearing for some bad effect.

Now, however, they are prescribed by many physicians for babies of six months.

Of course, bananas, like all other fruits, should be thoroughly ripe when eaten raw. A banana is ripe when the skin is yellow and all the green is gone from the tip. If the skin is flaked with brown, it is even more perfectly ripe.

The banana we have always with us—summer and winter, springtime and fall—it is the year around fruit. And it is one of the oldest foods known to man. It is thought to be of Indian origin dating back to 300 B. C.

Through the centuries the banana root has been transported, until now it is extensively cultivated in all of the tropical countries of the world.

Besides the fruit of the banana tree, which yields the large familiar clusters we see in stores, the banana stem yields a juice that is used as an astringent. Besides this, the spongy pith of the plant is pounded and cooked. The natives eat this starchy food, which is fairly nutritious. The tree itself is used in the coffee plantations of Colombia, where advantage is taken of its wide overhanging leaves to protect the smaller coffee trees from the direct rays of the tropical sun. Artificial shading is one reason why the Colombian grown coffees have developed their well-known rich flavors.

With us, bananas may be used for salads, for desserts, for breakfast food, or cooked as a vegetable.

A few slices of banana in the morning's orange juice will please the family, or few slices in the children's gelatin will add much to the flavor. Here is a sherbet which will delight a children's party.

A Two-Two Fruit Ice.

Two oranges, 2 lemons, 2 bananas, 2 cups of water, 2 cups of sugar.

Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. When cool add strained bananas and fruit juices. Freeze.

There are many delicious desserts containing bananas. Here are two favorites.

Banana Cream Pie.

One and one-half cups scalded milk, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 tablespoon cornstarch, yolks of 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, pinch of salt.

Mix sugar and cornstarch, add to well-beaten eggs. Add milk, salt and butter, and cook in a double-boiler until thick. When slightly cooled, add vanilla. Put a layer of custard into a pie-shell, previously baked, then a layer of thinly sliced banana, another layer of custard and more sliced bananas. Cover with whipped cream.

Banana Delight.

To 1/2 pint of cream, whipped stiff, add one teaspoon powdered sugar, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla, and one teaspoon of orange juice. Fold into this one cup of marshmallows, cut into quarters, 1/4 cup of chopped nuts, and 2 cups of sliced bananas. Pile the mixture into tall sherbet glasses, and top each one with a slice of banana.

Some days, lunch time seems to come before the morning's work is done. If you want to fix up something in a jiffy, try this next recipe. It is also fine for Sunday night supper.

Bananas With Bacon.

Six bananas, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 12 slices of bacon.

Peel bananas, and brush them over with the lemon juice. Sauté in the butter until golden brown on all sides. Remove to a platter, and in the same frying pan cook the bacon. Arrange the bacon around the bananas. Serve at once.

Instead of potatoes, serve baked bananas, sometimes with meat patties, or with chops.

Tomatoes you cook, or you may eat them raw.

We like the tomato however it's served. And give it the preference that's so much deserved.

Centuries before Europe knew anything about tomatoes, they were growing on the slopes of the Andes mountains in the republic of Colombia, which today produces the world's finest coffee. Spanish adventurers introduced the tomato plant into Europe. They had come to the new world in search of the "Fountain of Youth," but instead they found "love-apples," the name by which tomatoes were formerly known.

These love-apples were considered poisonous, and grown only as a garden curiosity. They were small and wrinkled. By cultivation and propagation, their size has been increased from four to eight times. Since about 1840 the status of the tomato has changed from that of a botanical freak to a highly accepted food.

Although the markets are supplied with tomatoes practically all the year around, the home-grown ones are the most delicious, and by far the most economical. Make the most of them before frost. They are delicious raw with bacon and toast, either for breakfast, or made into sandwiches for luncheon.

Tomato Tulpis.

Peel firm tomatoes of uniform size. Place each one on a lettuce leaf, stem end down. With the point of a sharp knife, make a one-eighth incision through the middle of the tomato. Make three slashes in each half. Still with the point of the knife, cut carefully underneath each petal-shaped piece. Fold back the six petals. Now you have a small round tomato ball in the center with six petals turned back from it. Sprinkle with salt. Serve with a thick mayonnaise.

Stuffed Tomatoes.

Slice off stem end of six medium-sized tomatoes. Do not peel. Remove seeds and pulp. Sprinkle insides with salt, and invert for half an hour. Make a white-sauce, using 2 tablespoons each of butter and flour, and 1-2 cups of milk. Cook until thick. Fill centers with two tablespoons of one of the following mixtures:

1. Chopped hard-boiled eggs and celery mixed with mayonnaise. Use one egg to each tomato and a cup of celery to 6 eggs. Salt.
2. Shrimp, either fresh or canned, salted and mixed with celery and mayonnaise.
3. Chicken salad.
4. Salmon salad.

Any one of these four salads served with hot rolls or biscuits is suitable for the main course of a bridge-luncheon, or a buffet supper.

Fried Tomatoes.

Beat up one egg with one tablespoon of water. Dip slices of tomatoes first in the egg and then in cornmeal. Brown in frying pan, using just enough fat to keep them from sticking.

Fried tomatoes may be used for garnishing a chop-dish, a fish-platter, or a plate of crisp bacon.

Stewed Tomatoes.
(If raw tomatoes are used, they should first be boiled for 10 minutes with a pinch of soda.) To a number 2 can of tomatoes, or an equal amount of fresh tomatoes, add 2 tablespoons of butter which has been creamed with 2 tablespoons of flour, and 1 teaspoon of sugar. Add salt and pepper to taste. Let cook 10 minutes over a very low flame. Serve in sauce dishes.

Stewed tomatoes may sound a bit plain, but they certainly hit the spot on a chilly autumn day.

Tomato Relish.

One onion, 1 green pepper, 1 bunch celery, 3 cups tomatoes, 2-3 cup vinegar, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 2 all-spice berries.

Chop vegetables fine. Mix with other ingredients, and boil slowly for an hour and a half. If a more highly seasoned relish is desired, add a little mustard or cayenne.

Since either canned or fresh tomatoes may be used in this relish, it can be made up when needed, and thus relieve the housewife that much during the heavy canning season.

'Depression University' Planned To Open in Virginia in October

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(UP)—A "depression university" with a faculty that works for room and board only, will open up this October in the Virginia hills, it was announced today.

It is the result of a plan evolved by Dr. A. C. C. Hill Jr., professor of economics at Springfield College, and it has enlisted the aid of such prominent men as Undersecretary of State William R. Castle and Dr. John Henry MacCracken, associate director of the American Council on Education.

In many respects depression university will resemble other colleges. In other ways it will differ radically from conventional schools. There will be no football team, for instance, but all undergraduates interested in athletics will have a chance to win their "D" in fishing. Hunting probably will be a major sport, too, with the idea in mind that after a hard day on the athletic field the student can bring home their dinner.

Our undergraduate body probably will be limited to 100, Hill said. The inclusive fee for each student will be $250, covering all living expenses as well as tuition. The students will care for their own room and will take turns in such duties as waiting on table and washing dishes.

"There will be no instructions in the physical sciences because we have no laboratory equipment. But there will be examinations and at the end of the year certificates will be given on the basis of those examinations."

The matter of a college yell will not be taken up until the hunting season is well under way.

Heat and Accidents

Slow Indiana Politics

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 15.—(AP)

Heat and accidents had played hob with the senatorial situation in Indiana today.

United States Senator James E. Watson was recovering from a near collapse caused by the heat yesterday while making a republican political speech at Madison. He seeks re-election.

Frederick Van Nuys, of Indianapolis, his democratic opponent, was suffering from a sprained back which occurred when his automobile collided with another machine near Bloomington late yesterday.

United States Senator Arthur R. Robinson, republican, was still nursing a broken rib caused a few days ago when he fell against a dock at Lake Wawassee.

393 Alabama Convicts Are Given 'Vacations'

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Good behavior vacations from prison until March 1, 1933, have been granted 393 first offenders by Governor B. M. Miller in line with the policy of rewarding model prisoners under which he previously has paroled more than 1,400.

In an executive order granting the new paroles yesterday, Governor Miller explained the "vacations" from prison would permit the prisoners to help their families and aid in gathering crops. All were serving terms for misdemeanors and had good prison records.

This simple Flavor-Test proves IF IT ISN'T MERITA IT ISN'T "BAKED-IN" FLAVOR

This is how Merita flavor-tests are conducted among housewives. A loaf of Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread (X) and two kinds of ordinary bread (Y and Z) are wrapped in plain cellophane. The slices on the plates are similarly wrapped and labeled. Each housewife makes the flavor-test and gives her vote. Naturally, Baked-in Flavor always makes Merita taste much better than ordinary loaves.

Make the flavor-test in your own home. Take one slice from a Merita Baked-in Flavor loaf and a slice from each of two brands of ordinary bread. Take a bite of crumb from each of the slices, testing one at a time. Chew and taste thoroughly. Notice how much finer flavor Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread really has!

Therefore, no loaf but Merita can have "baked-in" flavor. No other loaf can be as fine and good and flavorful! Old baking methods allowed rich, vitally important bread flavors to escape during the baking process. Merita methods "bake-in" these wholesome, delicious flavors and hold them captive in the golden loaves you buy. Baked-in Flavor Bread tastes better. It is better! Anyone can tell the difference! Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread keeps fresh longer, because its texture is satin-smooth and its crust is an even golden brown. It toasts better, too, than ordinary loaves! It's always oven-fresh at your grocer's, because it's baked twice a day and rushed to him by fast delivery. Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread is America's finest loaf. Try it today!

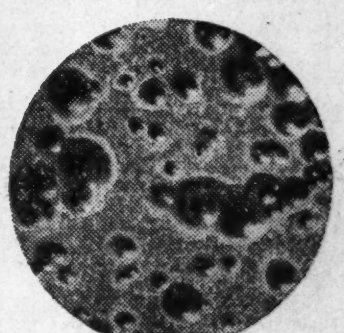

BAKED-IN FLAVOR is a revolutionary new process of bread-baking. It was perfected and is used exclusively by Merita bakers.

WHAT "BAKED-IN" FLAVOR MEANS

Above is an illustration of what you would see if you were to examine the top of an ordinary loaf of bread under the microscope while it is being baked. Here the microscope has revealed the large irregular air bubbles which allow elusive flavors to bake out and escape. Much of the flavorful goodness of ordinary bread is thus baked away and the texture of the bread is left coarse and full of holes.

Here is a view of a section of the top of a Merita Baked-in Flavor loaf as it would appear under the microscope while it is being baked. Notice particularly the bubbles. They are much smaller and of more uniform size than those on the ordinary loaf. It is the small bubbles that keep Merita flavor from escaping and give Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread its satin-smooth texture and good, fresh flavor. It also makes Merita keep fresh longer, because the large holes left in the texture of ordinary breads will not retain moisture and freshness.

Hoover Asks Renewed Effort To Alleviate Human Misery

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Key representatives of the nation's relief agencies, enjoining by President Hoover to see that none shall go hungry and unsheltered this winter, today made plans for full enlistment of private effort to care for the needy.

The president himself opened the one-day welfare and relief mobilization conference with an address delivered on the south lawn of the White House, with the more than 400 delegates grouped about an improvised platform.

"This is, I trust," said Mr. Hoover, "the last winter of this calamity. Yet despite a dawning hope upon the horizon individual need in the meantime may be greater than before."

The president asserted a major task was to "maintain the spiritual impulses in our people for generous giving and generous service—in the spirit that each is his brother's keeper."

"The need before us is immediate," he said, "it is large, millions of men and women face the approach of winter with fear in their hearts. The children sense the dread their elders feel."

"You have nobly offered your service to them and the nation. I speak not more to you than to the unseen millions of your countrymen and countrywomen in personal appeal, that they should take this neighborly need upon their conscience, that they shall share with you this burden, that they give generously of their means to your support."

To Mr. Hoover responded Newton D. Baker, prominent democrat and secretary of war under President Wilson, who is chairman of the national citizens' committee, which this year will direct a nation-wide campaign to reinforce local communities in their efforts to obtain adequate funds for their relief needs.

Their relief needs. This campaign will be held October 17 to November 23. Federal and state provisions for relieving distress were "helpful," said Baker, but to them "must be added a devotion of every private resource, both to extend the funds purely for relief and to preserve and intensify the curative ministrations of welfare and character building agencies which are more critically needed now than at any other time."

At the Mayflower hotel, where the conference assembled later in the day, Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation, explained the limitations placed on the federal $300,000,000 relief fund. He said: "The ultimate responsibility for furnishing relief and work relief to people in distress does and should rest with the states, the political subdivisions of the states and the municipalities. The national government did not and does not propose to assume this responsibility."

Pomerene said that to date $20,365,590 has been loaned from the fund.

Close cooperation between public and private welfare agencies in each locality and between communities and the state was urged by Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and president of the Charity Organization Society of New York. "The acceptance of local responsibility throughout the country," said Gifford, who headed the national campaign last year, "is essential. Any breakdown in this local responsibility will result in greater hardship to the unemployed who are in need. The number of those who will be permanently disabled as a result of this depression will depend upon how adequate and intelligent our relief is now."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(UP)—A $1,753,806,000 building program by individuals and business during the year September 1932-1933 was forecast tonight by the trade magazine American Architect.

The forecast is based on a year's survey of projects now in the planning stage and on others contemplated in the 48 states and the District of Columbia. The estimate does not include the huge federal construction program.

Gambling Losses Held Deductible From Tax

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Gambling losses incurred by citizens of the United States in legalized foreign gambling casinos are allowable deductions from gross incomes if there is satisfactory evidence the transactions producing the losses were entered into for profit.

This was ruled today by the Supreme Court in Knickerbocker Club v. United States, a case involving the tax liability of a New York club for losses incurred in its gambling operations.

Storm Misses City; Warm Weather Seen

The storm which was due to bring rain to Atlanta Thursday, moved very rapidly inland and west far out into the Atlantic Ocean, according to Arthur H. Scott, meteorologist, causing the rain to miss Atlanta and bringing fair skies and warmer temperatures today.

The mercury registered 61 degrees for a low temperature Thursday and 84 as its maximum. Today the minimum will be about 64 and the maximum will remain in the lower eighties not getting above 85 degrees, said Mr. Scott. The storm expected to bring rain Thursday starts from out in the Gulf and moved fast in 24 hours than it had in ten days and went out into the Atlantic, giving Atlanta the go-by, said Mr. Scott.

Gandhi To Begin Fast Outside Prison Walls

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(UP)—The British government will release the Mahatma M. K. Gandhi from Yeroda prison in India's "great soul" and undertake a hunger strike with the intention of ending his life, the India office announced today.

Coincidental with this announcement, Gandhi went a cable to a friend in London, declaring he regards his proposed fast as "God's call to me." There is no prospect of his abandoning the idea, the little nationalist leader said, except that Great Britain change the terms of its communal settlement for India.

"I Had To Take Some Kind of a Laxative Every Day," He Says

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills Regulated My Bowels Perfectly."

"I suffered with chronic constipation for twenty years. I finally reached the point where I had to take some kind of a laxative every day, but all they did was to purge my bowels and help me for the time being. Sargon Pills brought me my first and only lasting relief. They regulated my bowels perfectly. I don't believe there is another laxative like this in the world."—M. P. Harwood, 70 Lenox St., Rochester, N. Y.

"I No Longer Have To Dose Myself With Harsh Purgatives"

Will Always Bless the Day She Started Sargon Soft Mass Pills.

"For the first time in six years I don't have to dose myself with harsh purgatives. My troubles with constipation and biliousness were ended by Sargon Pills. My skin has changed to a clear, healthy color. These pills are different from any other laxative I have ever used. I'll always bless the day I took a friend's advice and started taking them."—Mrs. A. S. DeLoaz, 321 Lime Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

He Never Has To Take Laxatives Of Any Description

Used Cathartics Almost Daily Before He Took Sargon Pills

"For more than ten years I suffered from constipation and an inactive, torpid liver. I had to take some sort of laxative or cathartic almost every day. It has now been thirty days since I took Sargon Soft Mass Pills, and I no longer find it necessary to take pills or laxatives of any kind, for I am perfectly regular."—Thomas C. Matthews, 1441 Walnut Street, Denver, Colo.

Was Continually Taking Medicines Without Lasting Benefits.

"I was continually taking physics and laxatives but could find nothing to overcome my dreadful constipation. Thanks to Sargon Soft Mass Pills I now, for the first time in fifteen years, have regular and thorough bowel evacuations. This is the only laxative I ever used that works naturally and easily without the least griping or upsetting effects."—Mrs. Ellis Warner, 641 E. 32nd St., Portland, Oregon.

ROUTING GREETING IS GIVEN RUSSELL

played everywhere, attesting the loyalty and love of all citizens for their distinguished son.

Accompanied by his mother, who has been his first lady of Georgia at the mansion, and his father, the chief justice of Georgia, the governor appeared a proud and happy man. His brothers, who had worked untiringly for him, also accompanied him as well as those of his sisters who were near enough to be present.

The reception and homecoming was in the hands of many prominent sons who did everything in their power to make the occasion a success. Two or three bands were in attendance, a company of jewelers from Forsyth county, consisting of Jerome Roper, Cheizing Roper and Ruth Cowart, who entertained the guests with some delightful singing.

The governor's return arrived about 8 o'clock and was escorted to the platform by the committees in charge. Amid rousing cheers the senator-elect and his retinue were escorted to Rob Russell, stage, where, after congratulations,

Colonel Pratt took charge of the exercises, introducing the speakers to the audience.

Frank Scarlett, of Brunswick, campaign manager, spoke briefly of his work, but gave the credit for the success of his campaign to Rob Russell, brother of Senator-elect Russell. Dr.

Lester Matthews then spoke. Judson Moore told of knowing "Dick" since childhood.

Paul Launing, William Schley Howard, Judge Cosart, Jones B. Horn, Rob Russell, John Wesley Weekes made talks, and Chief Justice R. B. Russell thanked the crowd of people for the honor conferred on his son. Adjutant General Charles Cox mentioned the fact that the first thing the senator-elect did was to call his mother, which, he said, further emphasized the loyalty of her son.

Colonel Johns, of the prison commission, has seen "Dick" Russell go from representative to speaker of the house, then to the governorship and now to the senate. Tom Burson, newly elected to the legislature; Hugh Carithers, senator-elect; Mark Dunahoo, who drove him during the campaign.

Mrs. R. B. Russell, Russell's mother, was then introduced and bowed to the crowd, after which the governor spoke, thanking the people for their presence. He said he was "trying to serve the state to the best of my ability," and mistakes he had made were "of the head and not of the heart."

The governor said he expects to come back to Winter after, "Dick Russell," he said, "is proud of Barrow county, as Barrow county says it is proud of Dick Russell."

A square dance on the streets completed the celebration.

Gasoline Price Cut

Four Cents at Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A 4-cent-a-gallon cut in the retail price of gasoline became general here today, with distributors averring the drop was the result of a gradual demoralization of the market through various stations offering fuel at reductions of 1 and 2 cents under the regular price of 22 cents. They would not indicate how long they would hold prices at the present level.

Incumbents Lead in Congress Races

CARL VINSON.

ROBERT C. W. RAMSPECK.

HOMER C. PARKER.

In five of Georgia's ten congressional districts races for nomination were staged at Wednesday's primary. In three of these five Thursday's returns gave commanding leads to the incumbents, who are shown above. Congressman

Homer C. Parker, of the first, Carl Vinson, of the sixth, seemed assured of re-election late Thursday afternoon. In the third and eighth districts it appeared probable that new representatives would be sent to congress. In the third, Castellow, of Cuthbert, was ahead of all other contestants, while in the eighth, Braswell Deen, of Alma, appeared to who entertained the guests with some delightful singing.

The governor's return arrived about 8 o'clock and was escorted to the platform by the committees in charge. Amid rousing cheers the senator-elect and his retinue were escorted to Rob Russell, stage, where, after congratulations,

23 FARM PICKETS ARRESTED IN IOWA

Officials Declare Highways Must Remain Open to City.

SIoux CITY, Iowa, Sept. 15.—(P)—Determined to do everything in their power to open the highways leading to the Sioux City market, city and county authorities today combined forces, arrested 23 farm strike pickets and announced they would not tolerate any more interference with traffic on the highways.

"We have stood for enough nonsense," said Thomas H. McBride, commissioner of public safety. "We intend to put an end to this highway blockade."

Cooperative action was decided on by the authorities after a conference early in the week with Governor Dan Turner, at Des Moines, at which the governor was said to have promised state assistance in opening the roads if the local authorities first would do everything in their power to control the situation.

Drastic action was decided on after farm holiday leaders of the four counties surrounding the city had failed in an attempt to induce the pickets to leave the highways and after an appeal by Mayor W. D. Hayes, in behalf of city workers thrown out of employment had failed.

Sheriff John A. Davenport asserted that all roads leading to Sioux City would be opened and that any efforts at interference would be dealt with harshly.

JOHN A. BOYKIN THANKS VOTERS FOR MAJORITY

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, renominated in Wednesday's primary, issued the following card of appreciation Thursday night:

"To the more than 12,000 voters who cast their ballots for me Wednesday I am truly grateful; and I speak also for all of my associates.

"I wish also to thank the campaign committee of 180 of Atlanta's truly representative men—from every walk of life—who gave to me unstintingly of their time and thought, and proved their loyalty to me in every way in this campaign. And from this representative body of men, there was a smaller committee, an executive committee, whose advice and counsel, and whose commendation, proved most helpful. I wish to return my deep appreciation to them.

"In return for this generous support, I pledge you a faithful performance of the duties of the office. I have no animosity for anyone who voted against me, but will serve all with equal impartiality."

Next Governor and First Lady Are Real Georgia Farm Couple

the work in the cotton fields on the Talmadge farm, near McRae, where the cotton is waist high to a horse. "Mother" Talmadge may be seen as the central figure of the three riders, and, on the right, the newly-designated governor working in his peanut field. Constitution staff photos.

appreciation for the fight they made years. Certain red tape has kept me from doing many things I would like to have done. But, as I said in my campaign speeches, when I get in that office I am going to knock the bark off the folks who have been knocking the bark off you."

After he had spoken, Talmadge presented those who had worked with him in the campaign. Of Hugh Howell he said: "Here is one man who has worked 14 hours every day and half of every night to elect me governor."

The great crowd, which had assembled on two blocks roped off in the main street of McRae, gave Howell a cordial evidence of their appreciation.

Mayor John S. Stamps, in his introductory speech, told the Telfair folks that "the keys Gene" has been talking about in this campaign were not the keys to the Bibb county jail

L. S. U. Student Pays Tuition With Cattle

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 15.—(P)—Miss Elena Percy, 17, of West Feliciana parish, arrived at Louisiana State University today on horseback, driving nine head of cattle which she turned over to the university to pay her freshman student enrollment fees. The young woman's delivery of the cattle on the hoof followed last night's announcement by President James M. Smith that the university would accept farm products in lieu of money for student fees.

Miss Percy is the first prospective student for the 1933 session to take advantage of the offer.

50,000 CHICAGOANS IMPERILED BY FIRE OF POLICE, GUNMEN

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(P)—Fifty thousand persons, homeward bound, were thrown into a panic as three police cars with screaming sirens roared through Loop streets exchanging machine gun fire with six youthful hoodlums who abandoned their car and escaped after it was rammed by a truck.

Of the thousands imperiled by the gun fire, which occurred in the midst of last evening's rush hour, four bystanders were hit by bullets. One of the injured, shot in the left lung, was in a critical condition today.

The clash was precipitated by the hoodlums' mistaken notion that a squad of policemen, whose car drew up behind theirs on Michigan boulevard as they stopped for a traffic signal, was after them. The gunmen, not waiting for a go signal, immediately shot forward. The police car, assigned to the accident prevention

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Automobile horns that sound the tune, "How Dry I Am," are "disrespectful to the national prohibition law and a menace to society," Mrs. Margaret B. Clements, president of the Nashville W. C. T. U., told Police Chief J. Lon Foster as much today when the chapter asked that the horns be banned.

a tired feeling has no place in the happy "home-work" hour

—then pause a moment and reason in a common-sense way what may be the cause and its relation to the blood

NO matter whether it is the mother who is weak . . . frail . . . run-down . . . or whether it is the children—the home is not as happy as it should be.

In all humanity, and particularly among women and children, a deficiency of hemoglobin in the blood—a lowered blood count it is often called—is a very frequent complaint. Among the common symptoms, one or more of which is usually found in this condition, are, lack of appetite, poor digestion, paleness, nervousness, skin disorders, weakness, and a run-down condition generally.

Hemoglobin plays an important role in body vitality and enduring strength—it is the carrying agent in the blood which takes oxygen from the lungs to all parts of the body—even to the skin—and carries off the waste product.

S.S.S. stimulates the production of hemoglobin, when deficient. Furthermore, it promotes a keen appetite and improves digestion —so necessary in food assimilation.

You can feel the rejuvenating effect S.S.S. brings the body by its tonic action. As it increases your red-cells . . . and restores your hemoglobin . . . you will begin to feel better . . . look better.

A distinctive thing about S.S.S. is that it is made from fresh roots, barks and herbs . . . and being in liquid form it is readily absorbed by the system. It will not interfere with any other treatment you may be taking. Its efficacy has been proved by scientific tests and by its use for more than 100 years.

Try S.S.S. yourself—give it to your children! Get it from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. It may be the means of bringing better health and more happiness to you and yours. Then why not begin the S.S.S. course of treatment today? Insist on S.S.S.—the proven blood tonic.

What part does hemoglobin play in the blood picture?

You know we breathe oxygen into the lungs and exhale carbon dioxide BUT did you know it takes red-blood-cells, rich in hemoglobin, to convey the oxygen throughout the body and to throw off the poisonous waste product?

When nourishment enters the blood stream it is "burned." This process makes for body heat and energy, but in the conversion process carbon dioxide gas is given off. This is poisonous to the system. It should be rapidly removed.

The hemoglobin, in the red-cells of the blood, picks up this carbon dioxide—turning the blood blue—and conveys it to the lungs to be thrown off.

Then the hemoglobin takes up the oxygen from the air, breathed into the lungs, turning the blood red again—and carries this very important agent—so necessary for life—to every part of the body—even to the skin. This is a continuous process. Complete circulation occurs about every eight minutes. You see how very, very important it is for the blood to have its full strength of red-blood-cells and hemoglobin.

Overwork, worry, colds, sickness and diet neglect frequently reduce the red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin content.

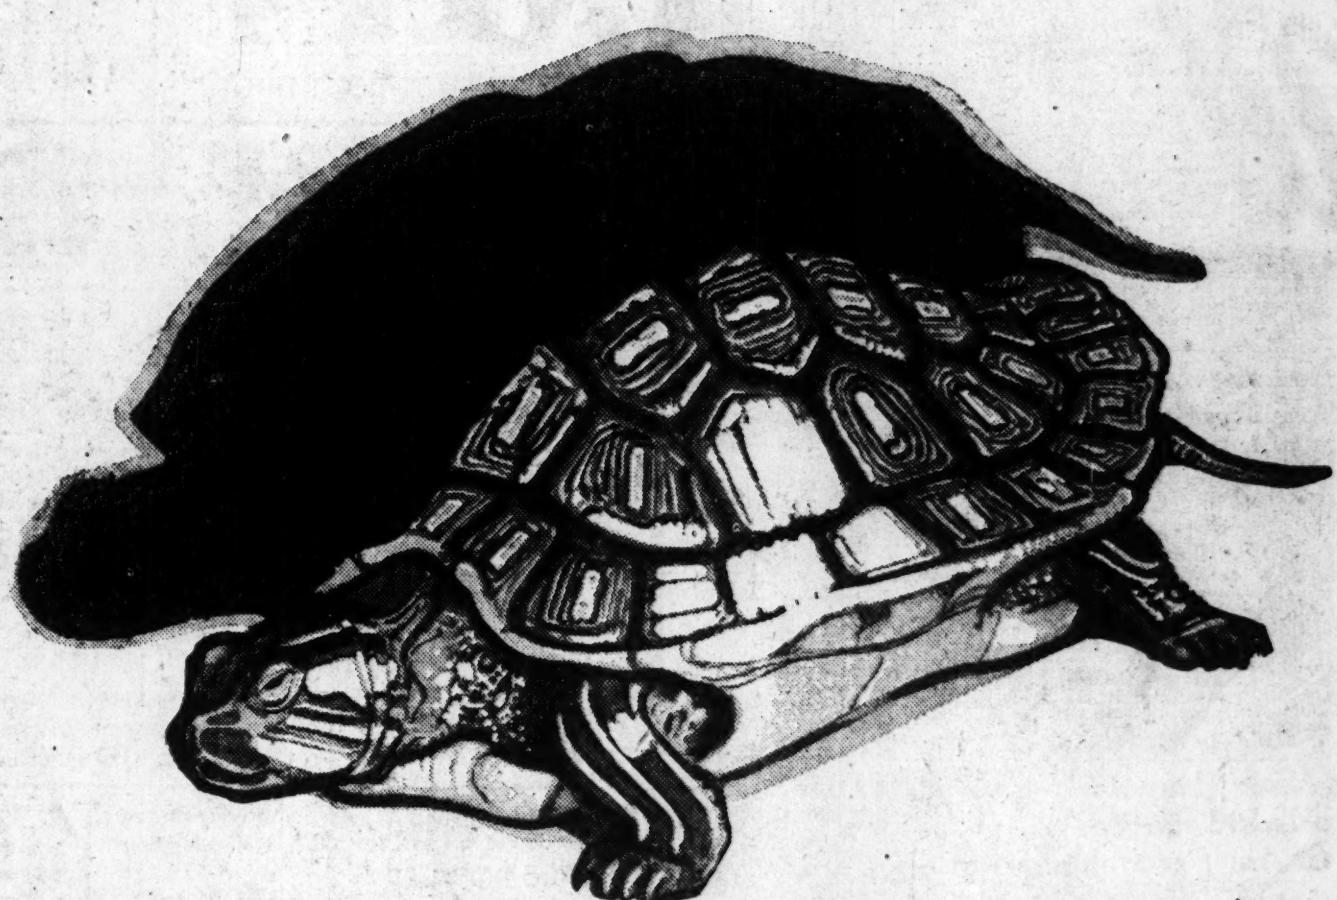

When the red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin content are lowered, the system is not expelling the carbon dioxide as fast as it is accumulated . . . neither is the system getting sufficient oxygen.

Some of the things which may result from such a lowered blood count are pallor of the skin, poor circulation, exhaustion, weakness, quick fatigue, faintness, numbness, pricking sensations, stiffness, heart palpitation, nervousness, flabby flesh, underweight, disturbed digestion, lack of appetite, nausea, constipation, diarrhea, pimples and boils. Dangerous consequences may follow a lowered blood count.

Extensive scientific research has proved the value of S.S.S. in increasing red-cells and hemoglobin to the blood.

DON'T BE SLOWED DOWN BY STALE GAS

YOU PAY FOR POWER...GET IT!

Only FRESH gas gives you all the power you pay for. Why? Because as gas gets staler, it gets weaker. Loses volatile "easy starting" elements. Falls victim to a chemical change—and gets sluggish and feeble.

Another thing. The staler the gas, the stickier it is. And the more apt it is to make a motor knock.

That's why Gulf is pleased to announce a system that assures you of getting FRESH-MADE gasoline—packed with power. Two important developments make this possible . . .

First, Gulf refines out of its fine gasoline the complex elements that cause rapid deterioration. Hence, Gulf gas stays FRESH longer.

Second, Gulf speeds you this FRESH gas in a hurry!

Huge Gulf refineries are located in many parts of the country—so that every Gulf station is close to a source of FRESH gas. A vast fleet of tank trucks rushes FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day.

Don't let stale gas deaden your motor! Get FRESH-MADE gas—packed with power. Get Gulf—for a faster, cleaner, quieter motor.

Contestants Have Four Days To Submit Songame Answers

End of Fascinating and Profitable Contest
Nears; $1,800 in Prizes;
Supplies Available.

BY THE SONGAME EDITOR.

The last few pages of the final chapter in The Constitution's $1,800 Songame are being rapidly turned. This is the final week; September 19 is the final day. Midnight is the final hour.

Already a considerable number of contestants have turned in their sets, but an even larger number are industriously "making hay while the sun shines." That is, they are using every minute of the time that remains before the deadline.

The city circulation department of The Constitution, located on the first floor of The Constitution building, Alabama and Forsyth streets, is remaining open every night until 7 o'clock and players who desire may submit their sets, replace pictures and obtain books and circulars.

A list of 12 important suggestions for Songame players has been reproduced in this column several times. It is again given here, so that none of the valuable information it contains will be overlooked:

1. None of the sets will be checked and judged until all of them have been received. Contestants who send their sets in early will have no advantage whatsoever over those who wait until the last day of grace. Don't hurry!

2. Arrange your pictures in numerical order, placing No. 1 first or on top. If available, do not cross or roll them.

3. Be sure that your set consists of the entire series of 80 pictures. Sets that have less than that number will, of course, be rejected by the judges.

4. Be sure that you have written your answers on the coupons in the space provided for that purpose and that your name and address appear beneath each picture.

5. Be sure that you haven't written more than one song title answer on any one coupon.

6. Be sure that your answers are reasonable. If you are in doubt about any of them, take full advantage of the rule which permits a contestant to send in as many complete sets as he or she desires. On the extra sets answers can be written, which gives more than one opportunity of winning the first prize of $1,000, or one of the other 39 handsome awards.

7. Remember, the free list of song titles does not have all of the correct answers, as explained in the note on that sheet. The song title answers not found in the free list can be supplied by recalling songs from memory, by consulting song books, or by using Songs We All Love.

"Songs We All Love" is a compilation of thousands of songs of all ages, classified as to subject, and gives the names of the authors and composers. It contains all of the 80 song titles illustrated in the series of Songame pictures. It can be had for 50 cents a copy by calling at the office of The Constitution, or by mail for 54 cents.

8. Remember, it is not required that pictures be pasted in a notebook, bound, stapled, prepared in loose-leaf style, or embellished, although they are acceptable in these forms.

9. Lost, mutilated, soiled pictures can be promptly replaced by calling at the office of The Constitution, or by mail. All of the back pictures as well as the book, "Songs We All Love," will be kept on hand until September 19. Pictures, printed on smooth white paper, are 5 cents apiece, when bought singly. Five cents is the price of the individual issues of The Constitution in which each picture was published. Any eight of the pictures may be had for 30 cents—or any 40 of them for $1.25. A full set (from No. 1 to No. 80) may be had for $2.

10. Contestants may bring their sets in person to the office of The Constitution, Alabama and Forsyth streets, or they may mail them in. Sets that are mailed should be addressed to the Songame Editor, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., and must bear a postmarked date of not later than midnight Monday, September 19.

11. The sets of pictures and answers, regardless of the manner in which they are prepared, or the kind of package or envelope used, when mailed, will require first-class postage, which is 3 cents in stamps for every ounce or fraction of an ounce. If you are in doubt about the weight of your package or envelope and the amount of postage required, consult your postmaster. Sets that do not have sufficient postage will not be accepted.

12. Make your set as neat as possible. In the event of ties among contestants with an equal number of correct answers, neatness becomes a consideration and is, therefore, of importance.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

At Local Office.

Q. I am undecided as to whether my answers must be postmarked at the local office before midnight, September 19, or whether they must reach Atlanta before that time. Kindly make this clear.—Mrs. J. B. Thomasville, Ga.

A. Sets that are mailed in must bear a postmarked date not later than midnight, September 19, from your local postoffice, but do not have to be in Atlanta by that time.

Thank You!

I am very much interested in the Songame.—Miss Lucille Greene, Morris Station, Ga.

Thank You!

I am enjoying the contest.—Miss Susie Broadwell, Alpharetta, Ga.

Thank You!

I think the Songame one of the most interesting games I've ever played. It's the first contest of any kind I've ever entered, and it has certainly been a combination of hard work and pleasure, and when I say hard work, I mean just that. It certainly puts the old "bezer" to working. And to the Bird-Girl who planned it all, allow me to compliment her by saying—I think it too clever for words. I'm closing with a wish for another Constitution contest in the very near future.—Mrs. J. H. Walker Jr., Screven, Ga.

Anonymous letters from contestants who ask interesting questions frequently cannot, because of limited space, be answered in this column. Contestants can be assured of a reply only when they sign their names and addresses. Only their initials will be used if their questions are answered here.

Contestants may feel free to consult the Songame Editor at any time by mail, in person, or by telephoning Walnut 5655. He will gladly answer reasonable questions.

The official contest book is "Songs We All Love." It includes all of the correct answers. Contestants are not asked to buy this publication, but, if they desire, a copy may be had for 50 cents at the office of The Constitution—or for 54 cents by mail.

For the convenience of contestants who have lost, mislaid, soiled or mutilated any of their pictures, an ample supply of duplicates is being kept on hand. These duplicates, printed on heavy white paper that will take ink without blurring, are 5 cents apiece. Five cents is the individual price of the issue of The Constitution in which each picture was published. Any eight pictures can be had for 30 cents. The price of half a set (from No. 1 to 40, inclusive) is $1.25. A full set of 80 pictures may be had for $2. These back pictures are available at the office of The Constitution, or by mail. Mail orders for the pictures should be accompanied by 2 cents extra for postage.

day, showed a deficit of $226,000,000, including the stock.

Thayer was asked, informally, whether the Mississippi valley concern was solvent at this time.

"The outcome depends on the general future of business," he replied. "I don't think any one can put a value on the assets at the present time."

The principal items on the asset list were $23,285,841, in common stocks and $17,444,790 of preferred stocks; $400,640 in stock syndicates and $681,572 in notes payable.

Many Holdings.

Among the stocks held by the company were such items as 1,000 shares of American Circus Engines, Inc.; 287 shares of Business Research Corporation, 16,330 shares of Continental Shares, Inc. stock in the First Trust & Savings Bank of Taylorville, Ill.; 10,000 shares of South American Oil Fields, Inc.; other shares of Superior Alloys, Ltd., and the Niles Hotel Company, most of these unrelated to the utilities field. There were also textile, coal and paper pulp stocks.

Mississippi Valley owes $16,700,000 to the Middle West Utilities Company and the latter also owns 97 per cent of the Mississippi Valley stock.

Various enterprises in which the Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment Company engaged were shown in the receiver's report. They included a real estate development in the Skokie Valley skirting Chicago's north shore section, on which there was a loan of $1,800,000; the Quivira development project near Kansas City in which $579,768 was invested by Mississippi Valley, Citrus fruit lands, Mexican real estate and a total of $12,856,000 invested in New England textile and newspaper plants.

In addition to the $28,000,000 deficit, the receiver said the company owned the government $742,075 in deficiency income taxes plus interest and penalties.

Mellon Firm, Russia Will Swap Products

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Times says the Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd., a Mellon-controlled concern, has contracted with the Soviet government to exchange aluminum wire for crude oil, and that the first shipments are on the way to Montreal.

The transaction is described by the newspaper as the first of a series by which Russia will buy goods from American industries through the barter system.

The Aluminum Company, the paper says, has arranged with the La Salle Oil Company to refine the oil and distribute the product through Canada, probably disregarding the United States because of the tariff.

U. S. IS EXPECTING DEBT PAYMENTS

Secretary Mills Declares That Nations Have Not Sought Postponement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—An emphatic assertion that there had been no negotiations with other nations looking to postponement of war debt payments came from the treasury today as the period in which the debtor countries must notify the Washington government if they have such an intention neared expiration.

"Our cards are on the table face up," said Secretary Mills, "and there have been no war debt negotiations in the treasury."

Great Britain had until tomorrow night to inform the treasury if it plans to delay payment of $30,000,000 due in December. For other countries the time limit was midnight tonight. Three nations, Estonia, Latvia and Poland, had previously filed notice that payments of $1,232,000 would be postponed, under a clause in their debt funding agreements.

Germany has discussed with the treasury officials the question of taking advantage of her privilege of delaying payment of the September 30 installment on the cost of the army of occupation and mixed claims. However, she has not announced she intended to exercise that option. As the payment is small, about $6,000,000, it was expected the United States would readily grant the delay if requested, despite lack of 90 days notice.

As the December war debt payments of $122,000,000 seemed assured, unless there is congressional action authorizing delay, treasury officials paid little attention to that financing in which more than $2,000,000,000 passed through government hands. A total of $1,285,848,500 was borrowed in five-year notes and one-year certificates of indebtedness to furnish money to pay maturing certificates amounting to $712,000,000 and provide funds for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

At the same time the treasury paid $50,000,000 interest on the public debt and collected between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000 income taxes.

$150,000 Paid to Policyholders By Constitution for Accidents

One hundred and fifty thousand dollars—That's the big sum that Constitution traffic accident insurance has brought to policyholders of this paper in time of stress, when expenses were at their highest and when money was most greatly needed.

If your name appears tomorrow in the list of dead or maimed in the wake of the ever mounting accident wave, will you have the assurance that you or your loved ones will get a share of the $150,000?

Why not protect your own financial security and safeguard the future comfort of your family by taking advantage of the unparalleled protective offer of The Constitution?

The Constitution offers you the famous travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago. This insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 60 on the one subscription going into that home at the small registration fee of $1 each per policy per year.

The policy The Constitution offers you provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specified accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from the accidents set forth in the policy. All this for only $1 registration fee—just about 2 cents a week.

The policy is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, Ill. The reliability of this concern is proved by the fact that already more than $150,000 in cash has been paid on claims to Constitution policy holders.

This insurance is offered to old and new subscribers alike. One who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Paid-in-advance mail subscribers can also have this insurance by paying the small registration fee of $1 in addition to the subscription price.

Those living in Atlanta and suburbs finding it inconvenient to pay the $1 registration fee in advance can pay 20 cents registration fee with the application and 20 cents for 5 consecutive weeks thereafter in addition to the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance the application must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of the beneficiary must be given and relationship to the insured.

In a telegram to the central executive committee of the banking and industrial committees, the president explained that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was meeting with some difficulty in establishing its series of credit institutions for the purpose of serving live stock and feeder loans, and that temporary aid from the local banking institutions should be stimulated.

Doctor Says Mothers Stay in Bed Too Long

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 15.—(AP)—American mothers spend too much time in hospitals after their children are born, in the opinion of Dr. Bethel Solomons, master of the Rotunda hospital in Dublin, Ireland.

"When an American child is born, the mother spends about two weeks at the hospital," Dr. Solomons said in an interview. "European women are ready to go home four or five days after the birth of a child, and it is hard to keep them in the hospital more than seven or eight days."

Dr. Solomons is attending the annual meeting of the Central Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

The draped treatment of the bodice is very smart. And don't you think the puffed sleeves, tightened at the wrist, adorable?

A satin crepe is stunning for to fashion it.

You can also use rough crepe silk, which is extremely stylish. Wool crepe would also prove a charming medium.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: Since the first days of spring we have had relatives visiting us. My husband and I have not sat down to a meal by ourselves for five months. For some unaccountable reason every aunt, uncle, brother, sister and cousin on both sides of the house feels free to write us that they are coming for visit and each party a visit. We are not rich and while we have cows and chickens and a garden, the produce is not free. We work hard and spend a great deal of money on these things which our relatives seem to think are as free as air. It is too late to stop the steady flow of guests for this season, but we want to lay our plans for next year so as to secure ourselves against a repetition of this experience. But these kinspeople have formed the habit of spending their vacations with us, and my husband and I have not decided what is the best way to beat them off. We get plenty of off-hand invitations from them to visit in town during the fall and winter months but we don't accept that sort of invitation, and we never get any other sort. Perhaps you can help us to devise some plan that will be effective without offending these self-invited guests.

MRS. D. L. T.

Answer: When people are lacking in delicacy to such an extent that they go unbidden to visit friends and relatives there is not much danger of offending them with a gentle rebuff, such as you would administer. Just so long as you permit yourself to be imposed upon and made a convenience of, just so long will your inconsiderate relatives continue to abuse your hospitality. The housekeeper that buys from a store everything her family eats and pays a cash price for it, foolishly imagines that the housekeeper owning her own cows and chickens and her own vegetable garden is at no expense in providing for her table. The city woman doesn't see the bills for chicken and cow feed, nor the bills for seeds and fertilizer. She has no conception of the time and money and lab. that must be spent on live stock and on the cultivation of the garden. She arrives for her visit when the vegetables and fruits are bearing, and she sees them picked and prepared without any thought of the trouble and expense that made them possible.

One used to hear a lot of funny stories about relatives that came to spend a week and stayed for life. These stories came out of the nineteenth century. This is the twentieth century and all the sloppy sentimentality about one's duty to one's kin, that flowered in that former time, is as passe as a hansom cab. In the past, it was not unusual for one's relatives to be out of date, but since your relatives don't know this you had better be careful lest one of yours might come to visit and stay for life. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Good looks aren't always luck

Sparkling eyes and a smooth complexion depend on good health. The beautiful woman guards against constipation. She knows this condition can cause headaches, sallow skin, dull eyes, pimples, premature aging.

Protect yourself from constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN furnishes blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much safer than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoons daily—in serious cases, with every meal—will correct most types of constipation. If your trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

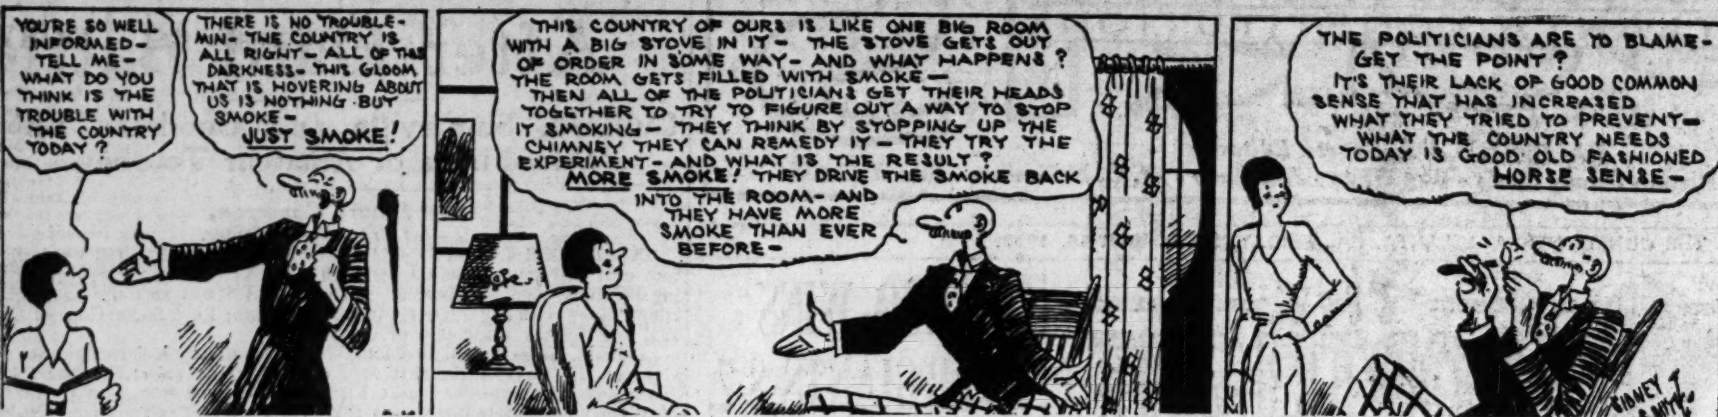

Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Barbara (Bobby) Manners, beautiful Chicago office girl, goes away on her two-week vacation determined to forget Eddie Carlson, formerly of her office, with whom she stopped associating when she discovered his friends were of questionable reputation. At the invitation of her employer, Vincent Balloway, Chicago architect, she goes to a lodge in a wild section of the coast and there meets a handsome young man who calls himself Jack Horner. She gives her name as Bobby Burns. Jack tells her he has heard the lodge is haunted. He stays at a cottage near by. He acts mysteriously. Through a secret panel Bobby discovers a subterranean apartment and, frightened, starts in a canoe across the lake. She is caught in a storm, hurta her ankle and is rescued by Jack and taken to a cove where he tells her he loves her. At a dance Bobby sees Eddie Carlson, who fights with Jack and shoots him, inflicting a scalp wound. Jack thinks Eddie is involved in the mystery at the lodge, and Bobby receives a warning to leave the lodge. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

With hearts beating rapidly, Bobby and Jack pushed open the heavy dark portals and looked into the great dark room which once had been a gay gambling and recreation room. The place seemed utterly deserted. The silence was thicker than the dust. One thing caught Jack's attention as the light flashed about the walls. It was the doors to the outer passageway. They were now returned to their hinges. Some of the outer entrances also was sealed. The intruders were taking no chances.

Hastily Bobby and Jack crossed the room, wondering what had become of the person who must have been in the cellar when the chains of the dumb waiter had brought the chilly message.

They realized that he was undoubtedly in the hidden room, and Jack, taking the light in his left hand and holding the gun in his right, made Bobby step behind him. He led her to the far wall, brushed aside the curtain and then they stared, unbelieving.

There was no doorway at all. The masonry extended in an unbroken plane across the spot where the door had once stood. Jack searched along the wall for 20 feet each way. Nowhere could he find the door.

Returning to the spot where he knew the door had been, he examined the wall more carefully with the light and found that the outline of the opening was still visible, while the smell of fresh mortar—though carefully camouflaged between the new stones—told the story. The door had been stoned up.

On one of the stones Jack and Bobby found a faint circular scratch enclosing a cross—the signature on the death note.

Then, far away in the subterranean apartment, they heard ghostly laughter.

The laugh which filled the cellar with its distant and ghostly sound seemed to come from everywhere and nowhere at once. Jack, without hesitating a moment, directed the flashlight at a grilled opening high up on the wall.

For less than a second Jack and Bobby observed an indistinguishable face at the bars, then it disappeared, and there was nothing but a vacant square of darkness crossed by the iron grill.

"Who was it?" Bobby whispered.

"Did you see the face?"

"I wish I'd thought in time to shoot," Jack said.

"Was that the person who was laughing?"

"I think it was," Jack said. "The acoustics of this place would account for the strange echoing and re-echoing of the laughter."

"But what does that grill have to do with the hidden room?"

"It's in an old passageway which leads . . . My Lord, Bobby, you have hit upon the explanation!"

"The explanation of what?"

"Why, the explanation of the manner in which the intruders are able to use the hidden room without coming out through the cellar."

"I had forgotten all about that other entrance!"

"Wait other entrance?"

"Come along, I'll show you."

They hurried back by the way they had come, locking the big door behind them. Once in the living room they stopped a moment for breath, and as they stood, holding each other's hands the clock struck four.

"Why, it's morning, sweetheart!"

"At least we are safe for a while."

"You must get some rest, Bobby. I'll stand guard below your window."

"But you were going to show me the other entrance to the hidden room."

"We can let that go for a while. I'll rest only if you can, Jack, but I won't have you standing guard all day trying to keep from napping."

"Maybe I can get Pete to change off with me."

"I'd rather have no one out there than Pete. . . But, listen, what was that?"

The muffled sound of a heavy motor came to their ears and they hurried to the windows to look out over the lake.

The cove was empty, but in the lake across the point from the cove they could see, through the intervening pine trees, a long, black boat with racing lines gliding through the water like a seal. It disappeared beyond the trees and by the time they had reached the shore it was out of sight around one of the many promontories which jutted into Fawn lake.

"Hurry, Bobby, we'll follow them."

"We can't hope to catch them in the launch," Bobby protested.

"We won't try to catch them," Jack said, "we'll just do a little scouting."

They crossed the point to the cove, jumped into the launch and in a few more seconds were heading out over the quiet water. A heavy mist lay low over the water, so that visibility was often poor. The sound of the other boat was lost in the roar of their own motor.

"I have an idea which way they went," Jack said. "I'm going to head back into the inlet of the lake."

"The might corner us or run us down," Bobby protested. "This isn't safe, Jack."

"You lie low in the boat, honey. If anything starts I'll do what I can with this gun. But I don't expect a fight."

"Why do you think they headed for the inlet?"

"I have only one good guess. I think they're using one of the upper lakes to land the plane and contact the plane with this boat."

"Jack . . . you think the plane is . . ."

"That's my guess."

The launch motor was warming now and the boat, after its heavy construction, was plowing rapidly through the still water of the lake, leaving a long V of ripples in its wake. But strain their eyes as they would into the misty air, Bobby and Jack caught no glimpse of the

Ralph McGill's Football Review

(Editor's Note: This is another of a series of articles by Ralph McGill, Constitution Sports Editor, on Southern conference football teams. Mr. McGill is now on a tour of the conference camps and will write daily articles, giving Constitution readers first-hand information about the teams and players.)

Tennessee

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 15.—This fellow Major Bob Neyland (pronounced Neel-and) can outdo the late Major Julius Caesar in at least one thing.

He can refuse the crown more times than Caesar. The history books go on to say that when the multitude proffered the crown to Julius Caesar, he refused it thrice. And then let them place it about his ears.

The football crown of Dixie has been shoved at Major Bob Neyland and his Tennessee Vols at least a dozen times. And not only has the Tennessee coach thrust it aside but he has fled wildly from the scene, protesting loudly and largely. Just for fun I offered him the crown yesterday afternoon. (It seems most anyone can award the thing at this time of the year.) He tore down two sections of fences getting away.

"My line is too green," he says. "When I look at that line I almost cry. Look how green it is," he said.

Now, the boys happened to be clad in orange shirts and the regular type of football bloomers. They did not look green at all.

"Well, they are green," he said. "They are green under those shirts."

The backs, I suggested, seem to be plentiful and large and fast and versatile and all that sort of thing.

"Well," said Major Neyland, "the backfield may do fairly well, but you ought to see how green this line looks. Let me pull up some of their shirts so that you may see how very green they are."

The major and his assistants, Paul Parker and Bill Britton, have been up in the chips for so long that there is an inclination to rate them there every year. Any sound of the moan from Tennessee is greeted with shrieks of laughter. They just can't believe that Tennessee will have anything but a great football team.

green under those shirts."

He Can Refuse Crown But Must Admit Good Prospects.

Major Neyland can refuse the crown more times than Caesar but he can't admit that he will have a good football team. I rather suspect it will be a great football team. Tennessee and Alabama continue to be the two best pre-season bets.

I will say this, however. A close examination revealed that the Tennessee players do not have horns and cloven hoofs. They do not breathe fire. They are not supermen. But they look like a football team which can go out and do a real job of work.

Tennessee has, it seemed to me, the greatest lot of running backs in the conference.

No sooner had I set foot on the greenward of Shields-Watkins field than I started protesting. "That isn't right, Major," said our old correspondent. "It isn't right at all. Bobby Dodd is down in Atlanta and here you have him up here. He's played all his slotted time and you can't keep him here."

Major Neyland looked slightly taken back and this reporter was about to launch into another tirade, when the player turned around.

It wasn't Dodd. But put this in your hat. They have a fellow named Charley Vaughn. When we arrived on the field he had the football in one paw, gripping it like a schoolboy holding an apple. And he was dodging all about the field with it. Suddenly he got a man free and shot him the ball, head high and straight, a perfect pass. It was Bobby Dodd's stuff all over. Fact is I never thought to see another man do it. But Vaughn can take that ball in one hand and skip all about the landscape with it. And then can pass it. He is the best passer on the squad.

And if this were not enough, other coaches being nearly mad in the search for a passer and kicker, Neyland confided that Betty Feathers, the backfield sensation of last season, was passing even better than Vaughn and would likely do most of the passing.

Feathers Is One of South's Best Kickers.

Feathers happens to be one of the best kickers in the south. Vaughn can also kick, and what is just as important, both are excellent blocking backs. They do not, however, list Vaughn as a kicker.

The list of kickers, as rattled off by Major Neyland, was Betty Feathers, Harvey Robinson, Deke Brackett and some other boys who were just fair.

The passers were Vaughn, Robinson, Brackett and Leo Petruze. The latter is a whiz, about as good as Vaughn.

These fellows do not just get out there and kick and toss the ball. They are real kickers and passers with real skill.

In addition to these are some backs who, poor fellows, can do nothing but run with the football and block well. There are 10 for instance, John Middleton, a good fullback; Al Bayless, a fleet sophomore; Ham Anderson, Brezzy Wynn, Dorsey, Kruse and some others.

It is easily one of the best backfield squads in the section south of the Mason fruit jar line and one of the best anywhere. And they lost last year McEver, Kohlase and Allen.

Let's get the end done with. There are Van Rayburn and Bill Shell, from last year.

And there are Murray Warmath, Lewis Pounders, Al Mark and Gene Rose. The ends are causing no creases of sorrow in the faces of the coaches. Tennessee has always had good ends. The ends will likely be stronger than last year.

"How about guards," I asked.

"How about tackles?" I asked.

"More about the end," I asked.

It so happens that Herman Hickman, all-American guard, was there last season. And so was Ray Saunders, all-southern tackle. Captain Malcolm Aiken, 195 pounds, and John Franklin are the better tackles returning. Al Austelle, 215; Bob Stafford, 225, and a sophomore, Howard Bailey, 190, are also trying. But the tackles won't be as good as last season. Or so the coaches fear.

They're Trying to Fill Hickman's Shoes.

Milton Frank returns as a guard. He is a steady, capable man. Howard Stewart, 195 pounds, is trying to fill Herman Hickman's shoes. Gordon Smith, a 165-pound guard, referred to as "the biggest little man" on the field, will play quite a lot. J. B. Ellis, 185, and Sophomores Hatley and Goodrich are also available.

Tennessee may not be quite as strong at guard. Hickman was an unusually great guard. But the Vols will not be weak at guard. Sheriff Maples, a Knoxville boy, is the center for this season. He replaces Mayer and is considered a better center. A little strength lost at the guard positions will be partially regained at center. Burt Bibbee and Jim Claxton are the reserves.

Tennessee returns both five veterans from last season. They are Van Rayburn, end; Aiken, tackle; Frank, guard; Brackett, quarter, and Feathers, fullback.

Yet the Vols will present one of the best teams in Dixie. But with all this the Vols still present a great front.

The schedule in the Vols still presents in the order named, Chattanooga, Ole Miss, North Carolina, Alabama, Maryville, Duke, Mississippi Aggies, Vanderbilt, Kentucky and Florida. Up at Nashville they think Tennessee will be undefeated when they meet the Commodores in November.

ALEX POLISHES TECH'S OFFENSE SCRIMPAGE

Three Sophomores See Action in Line and Show Up Well.

By Jimmy Jones.

Georgia Tech's offense, with a new play being tried in here and there, was given another airing out in scrimmage yesterday, this time against a team of varsity caliber. The freshmen were called in only for a short kick-off drill at the tail-end of the game.

Coach Alexander did not scrimmage his men as much as on Wednesday, taking time out intermittently to point out flaws in blocking assignments and handling the ball. He gave his offensive team the ball at midfield and let them plug with it awhile. At the conclusion of the scrimmage, the entire squad was given the "at ease" order for a blow at the shade end of the field, the weather being a bit uncomfortable.

Three sophomores, whose names you have been perusing in daily bulletins from the practice field, were shoved into front line action yesterday. They acquitted themselves very well in the brief period the ball was in play. Clyde (Pee Wee) Williams, sophomore tackle from the "big man country" of Arkansas, was in at right tackle, and he showed a fine sense of timing and a good deal of strength. Another soph, playing alongside him at right guard, Shaw, who has been converted into a center from a tackle, was snapping the ball. The husky Williams showed a lot of power in riding the opposition out, while Wilcox was knocking through very creditably. Jack Phillips, another sophomore whose 185 pounds of muscle and speed are a considerable asset when he is in defense, was backing the line on defense.

That Coach Alexander has an eye to this week's advantage is proved by his efforts to fit some of this bulkier first-year material in at various advantageous spots. Such men as Williams and Phillips, who are big and strong, are being used in the line, while Wilcox and Phillips are being used in the backfield.

CHICAGO WINS OVER GIANTS, 8-7, IN 11 INNINGS

By Kenneth Rice

FIVE FARMS GOLF COURSE, BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 15.—Some eminent sage once said that politics makes strange bed fellows.

So does the semi-final chapter of an amateur golf championship. In the dramatic battle over the Five Farms course tomorrow you will find many ages and many sections, a mixed medley of years and a wide variety of terrain.

Out of the tumult and the turmoil of today's matches, Francis Oulmet of Boston, the surviving champion, meets Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, and in the other bracket, Ross Somerville, of London, Ontario, the Canadian champion, battles over the long route with Jesse Guifford, the old Bostonian, who has just as much powder today as he ever carried in the past.

These four golfers fought their way through fire and brimstone to reach the semi-final act of golf's big show. They left a big gallery with jumping pulses and frayed nerves before they crossed over the hill into the promised land beyond. I have never seen finer golf played on the way to one of the closing acts.

Jesse Guifford, the big trench mortar of New England, put away Chick Evans without any great strain. Ross (Sandy) Somerville overpowered Bill Blaney, of Boston and Williams College with the greatest exhibition of golf the championship has known.

But Oulmet had to go to the final green and drop a 12-foot putt to stop the wild charge of Johnny Fischer, of Cincinnati and Michigan, and Johnny Goodman barely slipped by Maurice McCarthy to win on the home green.

The score today was phenomenal. Sandy Somerville, who plays many games well, was 6 under in 48 for the day. Young Blaney clung to the main dream of the day, and he had, but he could not face this cyclone of pars and birdies which had no respect whatsoever for Old Man Par.

CLASSIC.

All four of today's matches were set in classic mold. They either proved to be a smooth, unbroken putting stroke as if there was nothing at stake. He took the putt back with the flowing motion one uses in weaving molasses from a jug. The ball rolled on its way into the cup for a 4.

IN FOUR TRAP.

On the last four holes Oulmet found four traps, but when the critical moment arrived the Boston veteran came through as only a champion can come through when the pressure is terrific. He took the putt back with a heart can face the issue without faltering.

Oulmet was in a perfect place to blow as he saw his winning lead put away by the final countercharge of a great young golfer, one of the best this ancient game has ever known, for Fischer is just that good. Oulmet needed a birdie to hold his bag to keep him at bay and when the time arrived, Oulmet put on his show.

"That was the toughest golf match I have ever played," he said at the twelfth hole in the afternoon. Goodman and Maurice McCarthy brought back a 12-foot putt to stop the wild charge of Johnny Fischer, of Cincinnati and Michigan, and Johnny Goodman barely slipped by Maurice McCarthy to win on the home green.

THE REAL TURN.

The real turn came at the short seventeenth, where Goodman stood one up for the first time. Here Goodman hooked to a trap as McCarthy's first putt stopped eight feet from the pin. Goodman was 12 feet short coming out but he sunk the putt for a 3 to get a desperate half and hold his nerve.

And now they move into the semi-final green, where 10,000 spectators will swarm over the hills and valleys of Five Farms to see tomorrow's double duel.

Francis Oulmet will swap shots with Johnny Goodman as Jesse Guifford battles with Ross Somerville, of Canada. The fates here hinged on a key hole in the afternoon. Goodman's last putt was a smooth putting touch of Boston's star golfer. He had three birds to be at Beverly's year ago. He just got by with Fischer and now he is going to prove that he belongs on the Walker Cup list.

AFTER OULMET.

Goodman has beaten two Walker Cup selections in his last two starts. He dropped Charlie Seaver on Wednesday, and he stopped McCarthy today. Now he is after Oulmet's scalp, the coming of Johnny Fischer, of Cincinnati and Michigan, and Johnny Goodman barely slipped by Maurice McCarthy to win on the home green.

Cuyler's Home Run Decides Battle; Cubs Closer to Pennant.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Giants gave the Chicago Cubs a strenuous afternoon today before the league leaders finally came through in the eleventh inning to win, 8 to 7, and maintain their lead over Pittsburgh.

A home run by Kiki Cuyler finally decided the game after a nip-and-tuck battle in which Moll Ott clouted his 36th homer of the season with two out in the last half of the ninth.

Lonnie Warneke, the Cubs' ace pitcher, came out head at the finish to record his 22nd victory of the season after he lost a two-run out in the tenth, the first time he pitched. He was the fourth Cub pitcher. New York also used four with Sam Gibson being charged with the loss.

After gaining an early lead and losing it when the Giants began to hit Guy Bush, the Cubs apparently won the game in the seventh when they scored two runs over two innings by Jurgas, Gudat and English and a couple of outs that brought in runs. Gabby Hartnett hit for a homer in the eighth and Gilbert Elphinstone duplicated the feat to leave New York only a run behind.

Pinch hits by Koenig and Hack, following Manager Grimm's single in the tenth gave Chicago what it needed like another safe margin but the Giants wiped it out by nipping Bob Smith for three straight hits and Warneke for one.

Guilmet Is Winner After Hard Battle

Guilford, Somerville and Goodman Enter Semi-Finals of Amateur Tourney.

By Stuart Cameron, United Press Staff Editor.

BALTIMORE COUNTRY CLUB, Maryland, Sept. 15.—(UP)—A nine-foot putt that went down on the 36th green saved Francis Oulmet's golfing life today and he advanced to the United States amateur's semi-final round, where he will face Jesse Guifford, of Boston; Ross Somerville, of Canada; and Johnny Goodman, of Omaha.

Oulmet, bespectacled Brookline (Mass.) veteran, had to fight for his victory. He was playing that very elegant young golfer, long and lean Johnny Fischer, who lives in Fort Thomas, Ky., and who, as a University of Michigan undergraduate, won this year's intercollegiate championship.

Oulmet's putt was a true enough to give him a triumph by the narrowest of margins, 1 up on the final hole. There was a southerly breeze, most of the crowd of 4,000 which raced around the Five Farms layout in search of the thrill of the national always produces followed Oulmet and Fischer on each of the 36 holes played.

BATTLE.

Like Oulmet, Goodman, the tenuous Nebraska who on at least one occasion rode a cattle-car to a golf tournament, had one of those ding-dong battles, and he also won by 1 up, eliminating thick-set Maurice McCarthy, of Boston, and a former holder of the intercollegiate championship.

Guilford and Somerville had it easy.

The "siege gun" of golf, Big Jesse, batted out a 5-and-4 decision over Chick Evans, a former holder of a national title, and who, in 1916, had both the amateur and open awards.

Evans, putter, the club that has given him plenty of headlines, played even his false often, and it cost him the deciding hole, the 32nd. He had a miserable time on the long, dog-leg sixth hole of the course and the 24th of their match. He draped his first drive around the large red barn that marks the turn of the dog-leg. His second was a wedge over the top of the barn and Chick told Jesse that he was giving up on that hole and they marked down an 8 for the Chicagoans.

Somerville, who tonight was established as a real threat for the title, eliminated the sole surviving duck horse, Bill Blaney, of Boston, who plays golf right-handed and who used to play hockey and baseball from the other side.

Another stimulating factor was knowledge that the price spread between Chicago and Liverpool had widened greatly, with the difference now the sharpest witnessed in many weeks.

Wheat closed firm, 3-8 to 1 above yesterday's finish, corn 3-8 to 5-8 up, oats unchanged to 1-8 higher, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents.

corn and oats were swayed by wheat action, and at one stage both the fodder grains touched new bottom price records, September corn the lowest since 1898. There were indications of further export business in corn.

Provisions reflected downturns of hog values.

Those who passed Tarzan now, never guessed that beneath his stolen uniform beat a savage heart filled with relentless hatred for the Reds. First he wanted to locate the hotel where he believed he would find Olga, the spy.

Where the girl was, doubtless too there would be Ivan Karzenoff, who was either her confederate, her sweetheart, or both. Finding the building, he considered entering and inquiring for those he sought.

His better judgment prompted him to reconnoiter first. Looking into all the lighted windows and seeing neither of those for whom he had come, he swung lightly to the veranda's roof and continued his investigation through the windows of the second story.

In a rear room the blinds were drawn. He heard voices within, and once he saw what appeared to be a woman's figure silhouetted a moment against the blind. Creeping closer, the ape-man heard a man speaking.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MISSING PLANE

Italian Fliers to Press Search for 'American Nurse' Lost on Flight.

ROME, Sept. 15.—(AP)—After a fruitless all-day search throughout western Italy and nearby waters for the missing trans-Atlantic airplane, "American Nurse," Italian air officials tonight urged the hope that the ship still might be picked up at sea.

The search, directed by Air Minister Italo Balbo, was most painstaking. All available pilots, military and civil, took part in it, assisted by forestry workers, lighthousekeepers, warships, merchantmen and the national police force.

The ship was due here last night. Aboard her when she took off Tuesday morning from New York were Miss Edna Neumeier, 29-year-old undergraduate nurse, of Williamsport, Pa.; William Ulbrich, of Minneapolis, N. Y., the pilot, and Dr. Leon M. Piccoli, of Yonkers, N. Y., commander of the expedition. They had with them a woodchuck named "Tailwind" as a mascot.

Air officials felt certain that the plane had not arrived over Europe for if she had, they said, the pilot would have flown low to get his bearings and doubtless would have been recognized.

Although hope for the fliers was abating, the air ministry announced that the search would continue tomorrow. Orders went out to military and civil planes to survey their territory once again.

RONALD RANSOM TALKS BEFORE CREDIT GROUP

Ronald Ransom, vice president of the Fulton National bank, told a meeting of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men Thursday night at the Atlanta Athletic Club, that the United States is now going through a period of convalescence and that special attention must be given to business in order that there will be no relapse. He compared the economic situation with an ill person who has passed the crisis but is still the object of great care.

S. J. Smith Jr., an attorney, of Commerce and author of the Smith Notes, used by credit men, also spoke, explaining the use of the notes and their value. President R. L. Ataway, who presided, announced that Donald Ross, of Portland, Ore., national president of the association, will be the principal speaker at the next meeting of the association, to be held October 11. Thursday night's meeting was the first of the fall season.

On the Air Today

John Kelvin, tenor, whose songs are to Ireland, will open his recital with two old ballads, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and "Van Aldine's 'You're My Heart, You're My Soul,'" when he broadcasts this afternoon at 3:15 over the Columbia network, through WGST. Another of his contributions will be "The Kerry Dance," by Mollie. The accompanying orchestra, conducted by Emery Deutsch, will complete the program with renditions of "Friml's 'Shannon River,'" and "Lili," a typical dance melody of Ireland, by Severn.

Vaughan de Leath, long a favorite on the air and who recently has established herself as one of Columbia's popular vaudeville stars, steps into the studios today at 5:15 for a quarter-hour of her melody songs, which will be opened with "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans." This number will be followed by a medley of old favorites, closing with a modern lullaby, "Sleep Come on and Take Me." Instrumental numbers by Freddie Rich and his orchestra will include "Say It Isn't So," and "Love Me Tonight."

Mickey Cohen, who has been broadcasting a weekly program over WGST for a year and a half, and who has built up a large following of loyal fans, will broadcast her regular quarter-hour of popular songs at 3:30 this afternoon. Mickey can sing 'em hot or sweet, and do a pleasing bit of melody in either case. Today's program includes "Don't Be Afraid of Love," "O. E. American," "Can't You Be True," and closes with the modest musical admission, "I'm So Ashamed."

A variety of mellow songs by Arthur (Street Singer) Tracy, including his versions of "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" and "Perfect Day," will be featured in the broadcast of "Music That Satisfies" tonight at 8 o'clock.

LAUREL, Miss., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Campaign headquarters for representative Robert S. Hall, trailing W. M. Palmer by several hundred votes for the democratic nomination to the sixth district congress seat in Tuesday's run-off primary, announced tonight that Hall would seek reelection in the state-at-large general election in November.

The Georgia Tech Ramblers will broadcast a program of dance tunes through WGST remote control facilities from College Hall tonight from 11 to 11:30.

Sings, But Continues To Dance

Only three couples are surviving the Marathon dance, and the one shown above, K. C. Adams and Hazel Wright, are from Atlanta. Miss Wright is singing at the radio, but this does not permit her and her partner to cease dancing, or rather going through the motions of dancing. The Marathon has passed the 2070-hour mark, and grinds are to be held every night for five hours in an effort to dislodge the contestants. All are in bad shape, it was said.
